Here are some things you can do to help prevent these closures:

Visit a California state park with family and friends. Remind your community about California's incredible natural, recreational, and cultural resources by bringing your family and friends out to experience a park first hand. And if you can't get them all to a park, bring them along on a virtual trip. Take lots of photographs and then share them on Facebook and Twitter. Or, simply send a park post card.

Become a park steward. With limited state funding, volunteers will be playing an increasingly important role in keeping our parks healthy and accessible. Visit www.parks.ca.gov to find out how you can help.

Write your local legislators. Ask your local legislators to protect our state park system. Visit the California State Parks Foundation at www.calparks.org to send an action email to your legislators asking them to oppose the proposed closure of California state parks.

Support Sempervirens Fund. Make a donation to Sempervirens Fund to help support our continued efforts to expand and protect the redwood parks of the Santa Cruz Mountains.
